BRITISH PAIN SOCIETY 56TH ANNUAL SCIENTIFIC MEETING

9 - 11 May 2023
Glasgow, UK

INVITATION TO SUPPORT BPS ASM 2023

Dear Industry Partners,

On behalf of the Council and Scientific Programme Committee, it is our great pleasure to invite you to the 56th Annual Scientific Meeting of the British Pain Society, from 9th to 11th May 2023, in the beautiful city of Glasgow, Scotland, United Kingdom.

The Scientific Programme of the Meeting has always reflected the multidisciplinary nature of our Society, and this year is no exception. The format once again includes topical debates, lectures, workshops, and parallel sessions which will stimulate further scientific discussions and debates.

The BPS Annual Scientific Meeting will be covering all the new developments and research in the pain community, as well as featuring discussions on challenging and controversial topics related to clinical practice and healthcare policies. This meeting will also give all professionals in the field of pain the opportunity to rub shoulders and exchange ideas with leading researchers, experienced clinicians, and industry partners through a variety of networking possibilities.

Besides the high-quality programme of the meeting, we hope that you will have the opportunity to enjoy the city's rich history and beautiful sights by venturing out to stunning lochs and mountains. Glasgow was one of the first European Capitals of Culture in 1990; known as an industrial city and 'dear green space', it is the largest city in Scotland. Glasgow is famous for its kilts, tartans, bagpipes, whiskies and, of course, it's delicious haggis. Scotland has one of the most beautiful landscapes in the world with lochs, glens and castles, and a rich heritage going back to more than two thousand years.

We look forward to welcoming you to Scotland, not only for the great Scientific Meeting but also to meet old and new friends in the beautiful city of Glasgow, a vibrant cosmopolitan city bursting with energy, passion, and personality.

Sincerely,

Dr. Arun Bhaskar
BPS President

Dr. Stephen Ward
Scientific Programme Committee Chair

ABOUT BPS

The British Pain Society is the oldest and largest multidisciplinary professional organisation in the field of pain within the UK. Chronic pain is suffered by over a third of the population. It is commonly distressing and commonly highly disabling. It is devastating for individuals who suffer. Many cannot work and lose their jobs.

Treatment of pain is a fundamental human right, yet sadly there is an enormous gap between the care people require and what happens in practice. We also do not know enough about the cause and treatment of pain. Our alliance of professionals works collaboratively with patients and industry partners to advance the understanding and management of pain. We strive to reduce the suffering of people enduring daily pain.

Our multidisciplinary nature is pivotal in making The British Pain Society a uniquely relevant representative body on all matters relating to pain.

The Society was first registered as a charity on 29 November 1979 as the Intractable Pain Society of Great Britain and Ireland with a membership limited primarily to anaesthetists working in pain clinics. Over time, the membership of the Society became increasingly multidisciplinary and in 1988, the Society changed its name to the Pain Society. From this point until mid 2004, the Society's membership and activities continued to grow.

In May 2008, The British Pain Society also became a charity registered in Scotland.

Today the British Pain Society has a membership of over 800 and is a uniquely relevant representative body on all matters relating to pain.

The British Pain Society aims to promote education, training, research and development in all fields of pain. It endeavours to increase both professional and public awareness of the prevalence of pain and the facilities that are available for its management. The Society is involved in all aspects of pain and its management through the work of the Council, various Committees, Special Interest Groups and Working Parties and via its publications, Annual Scientific Meeting and educational seminars.
